Michele Perry

Michele Perry, Founding National Field Coordinator of Iris Ministries, Sudan, is actively involved in mobilizing a movement of those called to live in love and carry God's light into the darkest and hardest places on earth. Her ministry is characterized by supernatural displays of love where the manifest presence of God comes with power. In the midst of great poverty and turmoil, she is seeing the movement of LOVE change the nation around her. Through her close relationship with the Father, she is used to impart healing, hope, vision, and more.

"In the midst of great poverty and turmoil, she is seeing the movement of LOVE change the nation around her"

A visionary pioneer, Michele Perry oversees several mission bases in Southern Sudan, where 100 children call her "Mama". Born without her left hip and leg, Michele is no stranger to overwhelming impossibility. Yet again and again among the vulnerable children in South Sudan, God uses her and her co-workers-and even the children-to accomplish the impossible. Her first book, Love Has a Face, highlights her amazing journey in life, becoming a springboard for many into deeper places of connection with Him. She has recently completed her 2nd book, An Invitation to the Supernatural Life, and shares about how to experience God's supernatural intervention genuinely, fully in your everyday life-wherever

We welcome you to come and experience the love of the Father through this powerful daughter of the King, as Michele shares at Frontline Worship Center on Tuesday, June 26th during our 7pm Fire and Wind Service. Please invite your family and friends to be blessed, strengthened, and encouraged by the Lord through her ministry!

As one of the adjunct instructors for Frontline Training Center, Michele will also be imparting at Frontline Worship Center on Monday, June 25th at 7pm to our 4 schools. Please join us if you are an FTC participant.
